Elles sont beaucoup demandées, les voici pour vous : les paroles du premier single de Fiction Plane : Where do we go from here ? Le clip vidéo ne devrait pas tarder à sortir.

Where do we go from here

Where are we gonna go

How are we gonna live

When are we gonna know the things I thought we would known

Long ago, long ago by now I thought we would know

What are we gonna do

When will we have a clue

When will we know what's right

When will we know what's true, what's true for both me and for you

What is true what is true for both me and for you

If it's just dust to dust don't that make me a fool

I've always been a good boy, played someone else's rules

Will I be taught a lesson

Will I be sent to school

Cause lies come in different sizes and I'm not quite sure

What the prize is

Where did I get that thought

Will I be sold or bought

Is it a waste of time thinking about what's mine

What's mine in the blackness of time

What is mine what is mine in the blackness of time

What is mine what is mine and is that worth a dime

What is mine what is mine in the blackness of time

If it's just dust to dust don't that make me a fool

I've always been a good boy, played someone else's rules

Will I be taught a lesson

Will I be sent to school

Cause lies come in different sizes and I'm not quite sure

What the prize is
